

SANITARY & NAPPY UNITS

For the highest level of cleanliness and hygiene

Sanitary and Nappy Units

Cannon Hygiene's sanitary and nappy disposal units show just how far washroom technology has come.

The units have unique features such as a Step Pedal to eliminate hand contact and the risk of cross infection, and the Auto Lid which is powered by an infra-red sensor, enabling no contact with the unit whatsoever!

Our professionally trained technicians exchange each unit for a fresh one, which has been sanitised at a purpose built facility. All the components are subject to the most stringent of inspection and cleaning. Units are discreetly removed from the premises.

All our units contain Activap, an environmentally friendly germicide exclusive to Cannon Hygiene. Activap allows for the controlled release within each disposal unit of a powerful, non-toxic vapour proven to be effective against E.Coli, Staph aureus (including MRSA), Hepatitis B and C, and HIV.

All sanitary and nappy waste collected by Cannon Hygiene in the lower North Island and throughout the South Island is processed into compost by Envirocomp. Cannon Hygiene are the only Washroom Hygiene company able to process sanitary waste in this manner.

Environmentally Sustainable Waste Disposal

Your customers and staff need to be provided with the means to dispose of used sanitary and nappy products in a way that is beneficial for your business and for the environment.

Items flushed down the toilet can cause expensive blockages, pollute streams and rivers and can cause hormonal changes in wildlife. When placed in ordinary rubbish bins they end up in landfill.

Cannon Hygiene's sister company Envirocomp has developed the technology to cost effectively divert large volumes of sanitary and nappy and incontinence waste away from landfill by instead processing it into top quality compost.
